CARTE POSTALE — POSTKARTE.

By Appointment.

The Jackdaw. A common bird in the British Islands. The Jackdaw builds its nest in a recess, a crevice of rock or wall, in a rabbit burrow, or in the hole of a tree. Sometimes manifesting an ingenious ingenuity to make its nest so difficult of access, it will choose a convenient distance at the entrance; smaller twigs, wool or other soft materials form the bed for from 4 to 6 bluish-green eggs, mottled with grey and brown spots.
